Learn how to:

- List the opioid overdose symptoms
- Safely administer Naxolone (Narcan) to a person experiencing an opioid overdose
- Explain the procedure for obtaining Naxolone

Oct. 19 | 2-4 p.m.

Opioid use and misuse are national public health emergencies that can result in preventable deaths. Knowing what to do and how to help someone experiencing an overdose can be life-saving. Community health workers (CHWs) will learn about key public health metrics, warning signs, and the technical actions to reverse an opioid drug overdose.

This training is supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), together with the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) as part of awards totaling $4,339,895 and $3,000,000, respectively, with 0% financed with non-governmental sources.
